(Note that for 2019, Family Camp will start on a Saturday and end on a Friday)

HOW MUCH DOES FAMILY CAMP COST?

Family Camp fees are on a sliding scale. Be mindful that the goal of this sliding scale is to keep tuition low for those who need it. Therefore, we suggest you pay the highest amount your family can afford.

Ages 16 and older per person: Sliding scale 4 = $410.00

Ages 16 and older per person: Sliding scale 5 = $385.00

Children 4 years and younger: The fee is $25.00

WHAT DOES THE FEE INCLUDE?

The fee for Family Camp covers all meals, lodging and program.

WHERE WILL WE BE STAYING?

Family Campers stay in simple, rustic, open cabins equipped with bunks, foam mattresses, and composting outhouses nearby. Campers stay on the Indian Brook campus and should expect to share a cabin with 1 other family. In the spirit of being unplugged, there is no electricity in the cabins so be sure to bring a flashlight! Water spigots for washing hands and brushing teeth are located in the cabin areas. Two enclosed hot water shower houses are located near the lodges. The two main lodges are fully equipped with utilities.

WHAT IS THE TUITION DEADLINE and CANCELLATION POLICY?

A $100.00 nonrefundable deposit per participant 5 years and older is due at the time of enrollment. For children 4 years and younger the nonrefundable deposit is $25.00.

Tuition must be paid in full by May 1st. Failure to meet the payment deadline can result in cancellation of enrollment. Full tuition payment (by check or by credit card or e-check on the F&W website) must accompany all registrations after May 1st.

If the registration for a prospective participant is withdrawn prior to May 1st, all tuition payments will be refunded less the $100.00 or $25.00 registration fee.

After May 1st, Farm & Wilderness expects families to be responsible for the full tuition.

It is not possible to make any tuition reduction for arriving late or leaving early, except for withdrawal because illness incurred at Farm & Wilderness. In that case, a partial credit may be applied for the following year. There will be no refund if you are asked to leave camp during the week due to an infraction of camp rules or if you withdraw voluntarily.

WHAT KIND OF PROGRAMMING TAKES PLACE?

The real magic of camp comes as we creatively unfold the community together.

Daily Activities

Family Camp is intentionally set up so that participants and staff plan the days' activities and adventures together. To make this work well, we count on campers to create and/or lead a new or favorite activity. Trying out things you've never done before is encouraged. Just to get your mind churning, here's a sampling of just a few activity possibilities that may take place:

- Crafts: Puppet-making, beading, tie-dye, bookmaking, silk-screening, kite making, weaving....
- Relaxation: Sunning, rocking on the porch, napping, reading...
- Farm and Garden: Harvest fresh organic veggies, pick berries, milk cows, brush the bunnies...
- Gastronomy: Make pesto, cider, pies, homemade fresh berry ice cream, bring a favorite recipe.
- Health and Wellness: Yoga, Tai Chi, meditation, resting, hiking, long swims.
- Performing Arts: Singing, dancing, story-telling, skits, making music, reading aloud
 - (Bring your instruments and favorite books!)
- Games: Ultimate Frisbee, soccer, New Games, magic, board games.
- And more: feeding and caring for the farm animals, exploring on foot, adventure course, canoeing, discussion topics, resource-sharing, evening slide shows.

Evening Activities

Each night there will be an all-camp activity for campers of all ages. After that activity, there will be about a ½ hour to allow parents to put their kids to bed or organize the evening's child-care arrangements. This short break will often be followed by additional organized or spontaneous activities for adults and older kids. With no laundry or homework to do, this also can be a wonderfully sweet time to simply hang out and unwind.

Chores

A special spirit is brought to this camp by the sharing of the daily chores and tasks of living as a community. These could include cook help, kitchen clean-up, running the dishwasher, cleaning pots, sweeping the lodge, building fires, setting tables or leading activities. Campers sign up to do a "balance" of different sorts of chores. Each camper age 15+ is expected to assume responsibility for approximately one chore per day. (Most of the younger children love to help too!). Campers under age 15 are encouraged to sign up for chores labeled "youth." It is important to take the chore commitment into consideration when deciding if Family Camp is right for you and your family.

The last morning of camp will start with breakfast at the regular time, followed by an all-camp "Clean-O-Rama". Willing hands and hearts will make this light work, leave us feeling good, and leave a clean welcome for the next lucky group to use IB.

Silent Meeting

In keeping with the Quaker tradition, one of the beloved traditions at Farm & Wilderness is the gathering of the community each morning to share in Silent Meeting for a period of contemplative quiet. If someone is moved to share a thought, they are free to speak. For many people Meeting is both calming and rewarding. Children are a welcomed part of the meeting, but each morning an adult offers an "alternative meeting" for those little ones for whom 20 minutes of sitting quietly may be too much.

Farm Visits and Barn Chores:

Everyone is encouraged to visit the IB Barn for Barn Chores. The animals will love it, and so will you. The Barns staff needs lots of help with barn chores every day at 6:15 am and 4:15 pm.

WILL THERE BE FARM & WILDERNESS STAFF TO RUN ACTIVITIES?

Yes, there will be staff hired to manage the cooking, climbing, waterfront and lifeguarding, farming, work projects, hiking and many other specialty activities. Part of the beauty of Family Camp, is that we intentionally involve the many multi-talented and good-hearted families and individuals that are attracted to Farm and Wilderness. This blend of staff and families offering appropriate activities and working and playing side by side works beautifully.

WHAT ARE THE RULES/GUIDELINES AT FAMILY CAMP?

The well-being of each participant at Family Camp is of paramount importance to the staff of Farm & Wilderness Foundation. All reasonable care and precautions are taken to ensure a fun and creative community-building experience takes place. OTHER HELPFUL THINGS TO KNOW ABOUT FAMILY CAMP

How to reach participants at Family Camp

There is NO cell reception at Indian Brook. Participants can be reached at the main lodge (802) 422-7584 or for urgent matters, the Farm & Wilderness answering service can be used to page “Family Camp”. 1888-622-3276.

Cell reception, Laptops, cell phones and other internet connected devices:

There is NO cell reception at Indian Brook. In the spirit of Farm & Wilderness being “unplugged” we strongly recommend that participants leave their laptops and other internet connected devices at home, store them in your car for the week.

Outhouses

Though the subject may make campers who are new to F&W want to flush, the outhouses (Kybos) near each cabin, (complete with cold water spigot and soap,) have become one of the adventures the camps bring to the lives of people in modern, indoor-plumbing society. These kybos have helped to preserve the fragile eco and septic systems at the camps.

Showers: There are rustic outdoor shower houses with hot water and great views. The shower system (where/when to shower to accommodate varying needs for privacy) will be explained and posted at camp.

Napkins

There are generally no napkins available at camp. The best way of insuring that you have one if you want one is to pack a reusable cloth napkin or two for each camper in your group and store it in your cubby in the lodge between meals
